UT Students Design Spaces for Black Entrepreneurs in Cal Johnson Building

The UT College of Architecture and the Built Environment (College of Arch and Build) and Knoxville Business Improvement District (BID) have partnered to bring the UT Students Design Spaces for Black Entrepreneurs in Cal Johnson Building event to the University of Tennessee. This event is part of a larger initiative to create more inclusive and welcoming spaces for Black entrepreneurs in the city of Knoxville.

UT Legal Clinic to Study Systemic Racism

The University of Tennessee College of Law Legal Clinic has been awarded a $3,000 grant by the Tennessee Equality Project to study systemic racism. This grant will support the clinic's ongoing efforts to address issues of systemic and structural racism in Tennessee.

UT College of Law to Launch New Program

The University of Tennessee College of Law will launch a new program in the fall of 2021. The College of Law will host Cyntoia Brown Long at an event titled "Beyond the Label: Understanding and Overcoming the Stigma of a Criminal Record." The event will take place on February 23 and will feature panels and discussions on the impact of criminal records on individuals and society.

COABS Bryce Receives Fulbright Scholarship

COABS Bryce, who is interested in education and community engagement, has received a Fulbright Scholarship. Bryce plans to use the scholarship to study education and community engagement in the United Kingdom.

UT Updates and Information on Coronavirus (COVID-19)

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is providing updates and information on Coronavirus (COVID-19). This includes links to the Office of Community Engagement and Outreach Group's website and the University's email address for submissions.

The UT College of Architecture and the Built Environment and the Knoxville Business Improvement District are partnering to bring the UT Students Design Spaces for Black Entrepreneurs in Cal Johnson Building event to the University of Tennessee.