

CALL FOR ARTICLES AND PHOTOS

ENGAGEMENT AND OUTREACH OPPORTUNITIES

The Kuumba Festival was started in 1989 by performing artists to preserve and share African American heritage. Kuumba means "creativity" in Swahili. Each year, the Kuumba Festival celebrates creativity and diversity through performances from local, regional, and national artists. The Kuumba Festival is held in June and showcases musical, dance, theater, and spoken word performances.

Learn how to apply.

---

Calvin K. Kazanjian Economics Foundation Accepting Grant Applications

The Calvin K. Kazanjian Economics Foundation is accepting grant applications for projects that seek to address racism, xenophobia, classism, gender bias, exploitation, or the violation of human rights practices that may limit equality in the United States and Puerto Rico. It gives priority to projects that seek to inform and even transform suicide prevention efforts. Read about AFSP's suicide research grants. The American Foundation for Suicide Prevention's research grants support studies that will increase evidence of effectiveness of suicide prevention. Focus grants are targeted, innovative and potentially high impact studies that are designed to address particularly important gaps in evidence. They are targeted at funding projects that are innovative and potentially high impact. The types of studies supported include implementation science, studies that use new methods or approaches, and studies that are focused on neglected areas.

---

External Opportunities

The SEC Visiting Faculty Travel Grant Program is intended to enhance faculty collaboration that is responsible for reviewing and negotiating contracts and grants from federal, state, and local government, non-profit, and foundation sponsors. Those interested can learn more and apply. The Division of Research Administration (DRA), the central sponsored programs office for the University of Tennessee, in collaboration with the College of Arts and Sciences and the Office of Government Relations, is seeking a program officer to provide leadership, guidance, and support for sponsored research programs. The program officer will develop strategic plans and policies, provide information and training, and work closely with faculty and administrators. The program officer will also serve as a liaison to external government agencies, foundations, and private organizations.

---

Internal Opportunities

The Office of Community Engagement and Outreach is Hiring. The Division of Research Administration is Hiring. The Office of Sponsored Programs is Hiring. The Office of Community Engagement and Outreach is hiring an individual who will coordinate and manage the department’s internal and external community engagement and outreach activities. This position will develop and implement community engagement and outreach plans, manage events and programs, and coordinate with external partners. The Division of Research Administration is hiring a program officer who will coordinate and manage the department’s internal and external community engagement and outreach activities. This position will develop and implement community engagement and outreach plans, manage events and programs, and coordinate with external partners. The Office of Sponsored Programs is hiring a program officer who will coordinate and manage the department’s internal and external community engagement and outreach activities. This position will develop and implement community engagement and outreach plans, manage events and programs, and coordinate with external partners.

---

Navy Grant Funds STEM Outreach and Education Collaboration

The Space Institute, and 4-H Youth Development in the Institute of Agriculture with funding to collaborate in 1990, New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio declared July as Disability Pride Month in 2015 to celebrate the lives of individuals with disabilities. July is Disability Pride Month, a celebration of the pride felt by those individuals with disabilities. Those interested can drop off new or gently used backpacks or monetary donations in Human Resources. This will mark the fifth year that Human Resources has collaborated with campus partners and the Council on Governmental Affairs. Those interested can drop off new or gently used backpacks or monetary donations in Human Resources. This will mark the fifth year that Human Resources has collaborated with campus partners and the Council on Governmental Affairs. The letter of intent is due August 1. If you or your department are interested in volunteering and/or donating supplies, please sign up here.

---

FUNDING AND AWARDS

The University of Tennessee is a proud sponsor of the event, providing school supplies to each student. The Volunteer with the Vols. In the past, alumni chapters organized service opportunities in the Knoxville area, volunteers had opportunities to assist with the Meads Quarry Adventure Camp or the USA Cycling Pro Road National Championships. On June 25, the Big Orange family participated in a day of service called Volunteer with the Vols. Those interested can drop off new or gently used backpacks or monetary donations in Human Resources. This will mark the fifth year that Human Resources has collaborated with campus partners and the Council on Governmental Affairs. The letter of intent is due August 1. If you or your department are interested in volunteering and/or donating supplies, please sign up here.

---

NEWS

Says the Date:

5TH ANNUAL DIVERSITY AND OUTREACH WEEK

This unique experience offers faculty and staff from diverse backgrounds and perspectives the opportunity to participate in activities that promote diversity and inclusion across a variety of colleges and units. All initiatives that are implemented deepen equity, and inclusion across a variety of colleges and units. This year’s Week of Diversity and Outreach will feature a range of events and activities, including workshops, symposiums, and networking opportunities. The Office of Community Engagement and Outreach is Hiring. The Division of Research Administration is Hiring. The Office of Sponsored Programs is Hiring. The Office of Community Engagement and Outreach is hiring an individual who will coordinate and manage the department’s internal and external community engagement and outreach activities. This position will develop and implement community engagement and outreach plans, manage events and programs, and coordinate with external partners. The Division of Research Administration is hiring a program officer who will coordinate and manage the department’s internal and external community engagement and outreach activities. This position will develop and implement community engagement and outreach plans, manage events and programs, and coordinate with external partners. The Office of Sponsored Programs is hiring a program officer who will coordinate and manage the department’s internal and external community engagement and outreach activities. This position will develop and implement community engagement and outreach plans, manage events and programs, and coordinate with external partners.

---

Focus grants are targeted, innovative and potentially high impact studies that are designed to address particularly important gaps in evidence. They are targeted at funding projects that are innovative and potentially high impact. The types of studies supported include implementation science, studies that use new methods or approaches, and studies that are focused on neglected areas.

---

AFSP's suicide research grants

The American Foundation for Suicide Prevention's research grants support studies that will increase evidence of effectiveness of suicide prevention. Focus grants are targeted, innovative and potentially high impact studies that are designed to address particularly important gaps in evidence. They are targeted at funding projects that are innovative and potentially high impact. The types of studies supported include implementation science, studies that use new methods or approaches, and studies that are focused on neglected areas.