

Overview

The University of Tennessee Libraries' Diversity Action Plan is a living document that outlines ways in which the Libraries' will strengthen its commitment to "foster a diverse and inclusive environment marked by integrity and civility".

The plan encompasses the many facets involved in attracting, engaging, and nurturing a campus climate of support for underrepresented populations and helps to establish a foundation for service, creative teaching, and assessment.

The goals and actions contained within this document are a collaborative effort by the entire library community and while some items are specific to our branch libraries, most apply to the university libraries as a whole.
